Good morning;

I must comment on the blind and frustrating way that the court has handled the Microsoft settlement. Bill Gates' megalomaniacal outlook on the computer world is frightening! Microsoft's need to overpower and ruin other businesses is a slap in the face to our system of justice, fairness, and competition. The most hideous part is that they're still being allowed to make exactly the same moves, and are still taking full advantage of their power over the internet to try to crush any and all that might challenge them. The arrogance and willfulness will not stop until the courts do something drastic. Please don't let Microsoft bully their way into being the only choice we have.

Sincerely;
Jean Hanamoto
